Safety alert!

WARNING: Rising burns cases in Nottingham from popular children's toy Nee Doh

These squishy stress-relief toys are popular among children and often used for sensory play.

TikTok trends are encouraging people to heat them in the microwave or hot water to make them softer.

When heated, they can explode/burst, causing hot liquid to escape resulting in serious burns, with some children needing skin grafts.

- ! DO NOT heat Nee Doh toys – they are not designed for this.
- ! Supervise young children using these toys.
- ! If a burn occurs, immediately cool the area with cold running water for at least 20 minutes and seek medical help.

Sun

Awareness Week

We all hope that this year will bring us some nice weather!

Don't forget though, from March to October in the UK, children should:

- Cover up with suitable clothing
- Spend time in the shade, particularly from 11am to 3pm
- Wear at least SPF30 sunscreen (on areas not protected by clothing, such as the face, ears, feet and backs of hands)

The British Association of Dermatologists has more information:

Sunlight and Vitamin D

Exposure to sunlight is most people's main source of Vitamin D. It is recommended that everyone takes Vitamin D supplements (10 micrograms) per day during the winter months October to March, but some people require it throughout the year including those with dark skin and those who cover up in the spring/summer.

Vitamin D aids healthy bones and muscles.

☞ More advice on Vitamin D can be found here

The messages can seem confusing!

For lighter skin types, daily sunlight exposure for 10-15 minutes between April and September provides sufficient year round vitamin D while also minimising the risks of sunburn and skin cancer.

For darker skin types, 25-40 minutes is recommended
